Market Highlights

The global dental consumables market has been examined as a swiftly growing market and expected to grow at a tremendous rate. Globally, market for dental consumables is a high growth market. The growth of the market is majorly driven by increase in dental procedures. Globally this market has seen a significant rise due to the prevalence of dental and oral diseases which is the result of inappropriate dietary habits and sedentary lifestyles. Diseases like tooth decay and cavity among the diseases that arise due to improper/unhealthy eating habits. Fast food products, confectionary products, aerated drinks and such other foods contribute to the alarming rise of the dental diseases worldwide.

In case of Dental Emergency Department (ED) cases in the US, there was a growth witnessed from 1.1 million in the year 2000 to about 2.1 million in the year 2010 which is almost double the growth. The scenario primarily attributes to the procedures pertaining to patients previously having avoided the preventive and restorative care.

Market Research Analysis:

Dental consumable has an important quotient in the growth of dental market. In the coming years, it is expected that the dental consumables market will advance with higher growth rate as compared to previous years. The current growth barriers for the market are lack of technological awareness. This mainly attributes to the slow adoption rate of new technology by the dentists, especially in case of dental equipment and procedures. Such instances mainly occur in cases of older generation dentists who do not want to adopt new technologies. Hence, this factor hinders the growth of the overall dental consumables market.
