

Premier Flight Group International Signs Deal With Grand Wings

WHITESTOWN, INDIANA, UNITED STATES, December 1, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Pilot job opportunities abound, worldwide, as Premier Flight Group International excitedly announces its new partnership with Grand Wings, a recruiting company for a number of Chinese based air carriers. Premier Flight Group International now offers long term contracts for Boeing 737, Airbus A320, and Embraer E190/195 for qualified candidates.

According to Boeing, the largest aircraft manufacturer in the world, there will be a need for over 6,300 new aircraft in China by the year 2034, to the tune of a $1 trillion valuation. Growth estimates are staggering, with the Chinese fleet of narrowbody and widebody aircraft tripling in size in the next twenty years. This, alongside nearly $5.6 trillion worth of new aircraft projected to be purchased and put in service over the rest of the globe in the same timeframe, there will most certainly be a shortage of qualified applicants.

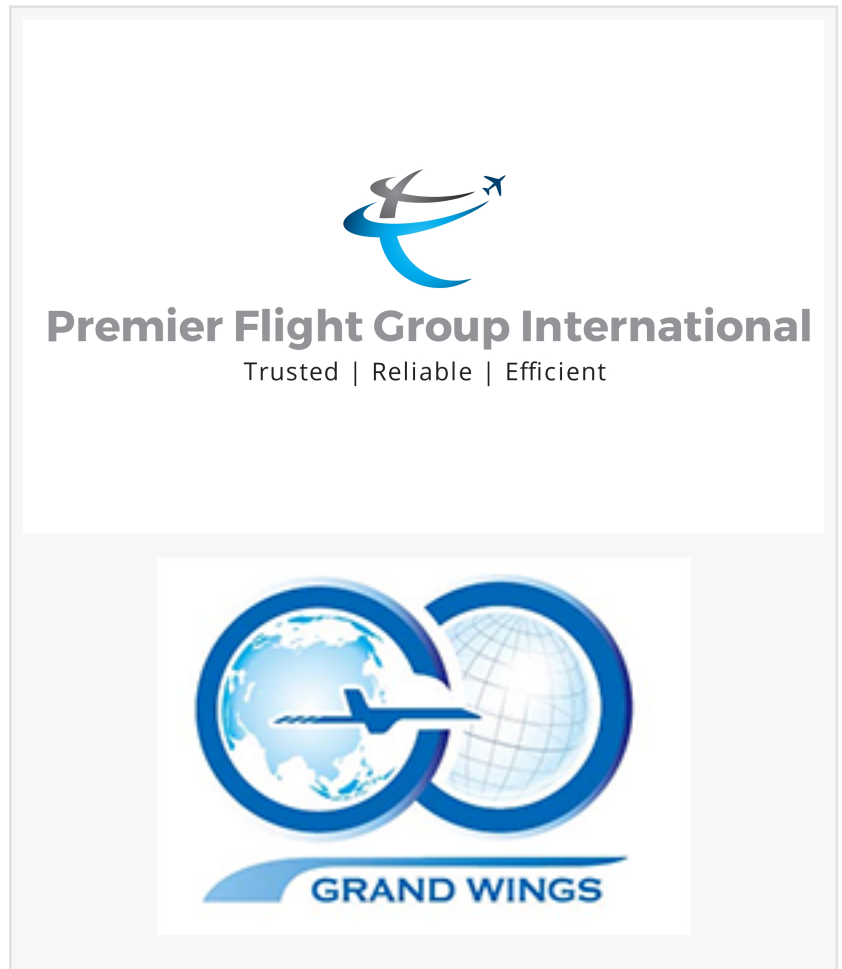

Most projections put the total number of new pilots required in the next twenty years around 550,000, with nearly half of that coming from the Asia Pacific region alone.

Chinese airlines are already recognizing the need for qualified ex-pat pilots, as their experience is an extremely valuable asset to a growing airline. Due to their experience, Chinese airlines pay commensurately in the form of huge annual salaries and bonus completion packages.

“

It's a good time to be a pilot, especially for those pilot's looking to work in China. This partnership with Grand Wings comes at a time of growth and we are pleased to be a part of it.

Bryan McKee - CEO

Premier Flight Group International has partnered with Grand Wings to offer competitive pay packages for qualified candidates at Lucky Air, Ruili Airlines, Fuzhou Airlines, West Air, and GX Airlines. Top pay is in excess of $300,000 USD for Boeing 737, $290,000 USD for Airbus A320, and over $220,000 for Embraer E190.
