

PubHTML5 Digital Publishing Platform is Perfect for Online Publishing

As for the online publishing, it can be an easy job with PubHTML5 digital publishing platform.

HONGKONG, CHINA, December 6, 2016 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Today, PubHTML5, a company specializing in publishing software for books, magazines and any print material, announced the introduction its digital publishing platform that allows anyone to convert their magazines, books or any print material into online flip books.

Jason Chen, the company's Chief Technology Officer, said users only need to upload their PDF files and PubHTML5 digital publishing platform will take care of the rest, including publishing an unlimited number of magazines per month.

This platform contains a book management feature which allows users to edit book titles, share publications on social media, and track audience engagement such as page views, and the time spent on web pages. And all of this is for free.

PubHTML5 can also be used on any device, said Chen, including the iphone, the ipad, and any android device. And content be viewed anywhere, anytime, both online or offline.

There is also an online and desktop version. And the desktop version works on both windows and the Mac. Everyone is free to use PubHTML5, said Chen. Alvaro Fonseca, an editor at Sessions Magazine, said the software has helped her to develop her magazine. While Andrea Montalvo of tourist magazine said he chose this platform because of its price and quality and the time it takes to convert a magazine into digital format. He says it takes him one minute every month to convert magazines into online formats.

“The free version of PubHTML5 provides users with basic features such as converting PDF files to online eBooks; while paid versions, pro, gold, platinum and enterprise allow for unlimited uploads and downloads per month”, said Chen

The Pro and Gold version are monthly paid plans while the Platinum version is an annual plan which goes for 240$ a year. The Enterprise plan is $799 and allows users to use the software forever and get lifetime support from PubHTML5 technicians.
