Marijuana Consulting Firm Rises to the Challenge

Quantum 9, Inc. is a Chicago, IL-based cannabis consulting firm. We spoke to CEO Michael Mayes to learn more about this fascinating company and the services it provides.

Quantum 9 specializes in supporting high net worth individuals, private equity, and investment firms to obtain business licenses to cultivate, manufacture and dispense marijuana. Michael describes the firm's work in more detail, focusing on the dedication of its staff, who are vital to the success of the firm.

"Here at Quantum 9, we have over 35 marijuana consultants that work for the company, and we have practiced in 10 countries. Our areas of expertise include permit acquisition, team building, employee training and process planning. We help clients fully maximize the potential of any cannabis cultivation, processing and dispensary business.

"Our group includes some of the most talented marijuana consultants in the world including award winning cannabis cultivators, scientists, and business owners. We have a team which holds advanced degrees in medicine, cannabinoid therapy, business, agriculture, horticulture and plant sciences. Our staff can make any application submission for licensing stronger."

Michael adds that the firm works with a wide variety of clients, and has moved into international consultancy recently.

"The firm works with a wide range of clients across many industries with a focus on helping clients acquire permits to dispense, cultivate and manufacture cannabis."

"Our international consulting work started with a project with the German Ministry to help shape the medical marijuana program. Since then we have practiced in ten countries. International Consulting had created some banking issues for us especially when we received international wire transfers from Canada, Holland, and Colombia. We have been through four bank accounts and counting since our firm started."

Currently, the marijuana industry is gaining momentum, and is expected to grow to $36.8 B by 2020. The biggest issue today facing the industry is banking. Many of these companies operate on a 100% cash basis. Local credit unions are extorting companies with high account costs and cash processing fees. Michael talks us through how the firm works around the various industry challenges it faces in order to support clients and ensure that they get the very best service.

"Within the wider industry, it has been increasingly difficult to win licensing in newly emerging states and countries. The field is getting tougher. We have a 91.6 % success rate, 22 out of 24 is our current record. Everything submitted must be of the utmost excellence, from Standard Operating Procedures to the executive team that will run the company. The amount of time required for us to submit efficiently has increased three fold, and we need at least six months now to ensure success."

"Additionally, we have had to overcome many legislative changes during the last four years. We had to write the CBD paediatric bill in Kentucky to help children access cannabis safely. It is almost always an uphill battle trying to change the minds of disinterested people. The marijuana subject is certainly still taboo in most newly emerging territories. We think we are too far down the rabbit's hole to turn back now, so the rule makers need to come together and make sure that the legislation matches the needs."

As his final comment Michael talks us through the firm's aspirations going forward and how it will adapt around the latest industry developments to ensure an exciting future.

"Our future aspirations are to help aid in solving the banking issue. We have a team of consultants now that specialize in the field. We have aligned the right resources; we are just waiting for the opportunity, which we look forward to taking when it comes."
