The analysts forecast the global galley equipment market to grow at a CAGR of 4.20% during the period 2017-2021.

The galley is an area in an aircraft or ship, where the food is prepared and cooked. The electric and non-electric equipment used in the galley area is termed as galley equipment. The global galley equipment market is segmented based on its applications into aviation segment and marine segment. The galley equipment market in the marine segment accounts for strong revenue share due to its larger requirements for galley inserts, which are expensive. However, the galley equipment used in the aviation segment is expected to post a higher growth rate as compared to the marine segment.
