

Tineri Wins Place at Travel Technology Europe Launchpad 2017

Tineri, one of Asia's most exciting new travel tech startups, are delighted to announce that we have won a place at the 2017 Travel Technology Europe Launchpad!

BANGKOK, -- PLEASE CHOOSE --, THAILAND, January 12, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Tineri, one of Asia's most exciting new travel technology startups, are delighted to announce that we have won a place at the 2017 Travel Technology Europe Launchpad!

Over 40 travel startups applied for just 14 slots at the event, which grants the world's most promising travel tech startups a free booth at Europe's biggest travel technology show, and we're delighted to be one of those selected.

Travel Technology Europe takes place at London's Olympia exhibition centre on 22-23 February 2017. Sponsored by tech giants Sabre, Cognizant and Adobe, it is attended by over 5500 travel tech professionals who will meet over 130 exhibitors showcasing the latest booking, e-commerce, payment, CRM, marketing and mobile technology for the travel industry.

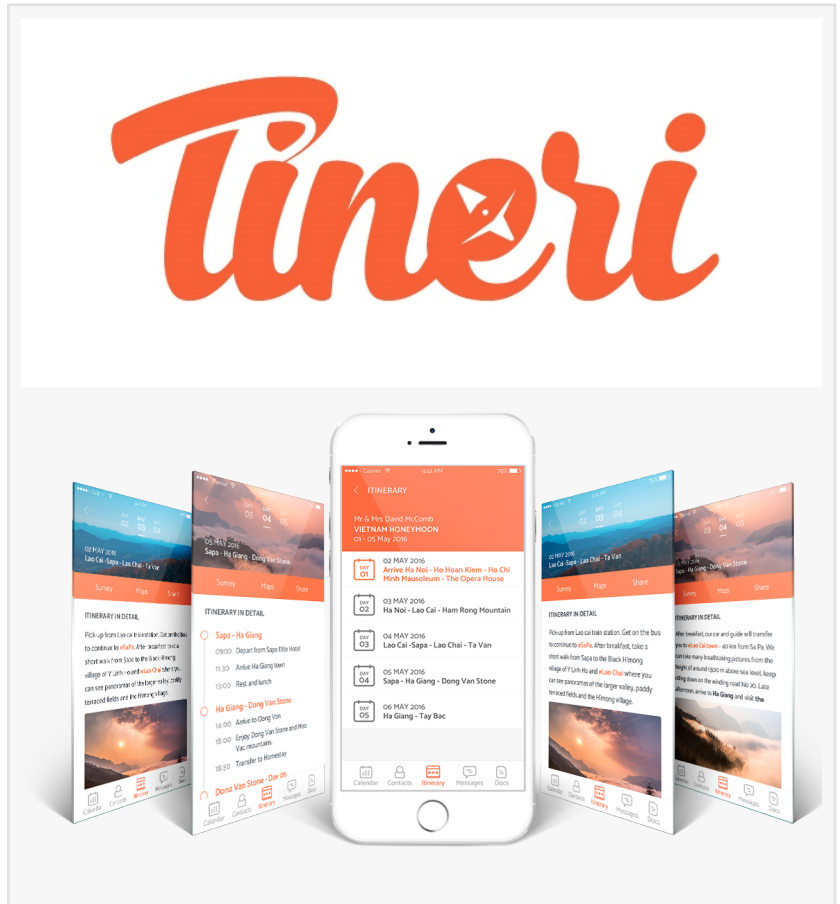

Tim Russell, Tineri's founder & CEO says "We're delighted to have won a place at the TTE 2017 Launchpad. Whilst exhibiting at such events is vital for tech businesses, the cost can be prohibitive for new startups, so we really appreciate getting a leg-up from TTE! We're looking forward to going to London and hopefully meeting lots of potential partners, customers and investors."
