The analysts forecast the global foot insoles market to grow at a CAGR of 6.64% during the period 2017-2021.

Due to its structural nature, the human foot is intended to walk on natural grounds and without the use of high heels. The unusual inclined position of the foot due to heels and often flat floor will result in damage to the foot and therefore, in the podalgia. Most humans are born with healthy feet. Damage to the feet predominantly develops with time. The causes are disposition, overweight, hard grounds, wrong footwear, sport injuries, rheumatic changes, circulatory disorders, and neuropathies.
