IT Governance to exhibit at The Future of Cyber Security Manchester

ELY, CAMBRIDGESHIRE, UNITED KINGDOM, January 13, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- IT Governance, the leading provider of ISO 27001 and information security expertise, will be exhibiting at The Future of Cyber Security Manchester conference on Tuesday, 24 January 2017.

The Future of Cyber Security Manchester is a national cyber security conference that focuses on how organisations can protect themselves, customers, employees and the wider public.

Alan Calder, the founder and executive chairman of IT Governance, said: "We are delighted to be exhibiting at The Future of Cyber Security Manchester. The conference is a great way to discuss feasible business solutions and the latest cyber security trends with current and prospective clients."

The one-day cyber security conference brings over 300 senior decision makers face-to-face with leading cyber security specialists, who will give presentations on current and emerging information security threats. Covering the strategic needs of all enterprises, the conference provides delegates with a unique opportunity to learn from leaders in the field.

The conference sessions and seminars are designed to provide delegates with a broad-ranging overview of the state of the cyber security landscape today, and practical insights and methodologies for advancing their cyber security strategy.

The conference delivers presentations on a wide range of topics, such as: the MOD supplier protection services, the GDPR, the NIS Directive, identifying early-stage threats, cyber security modelling, mitigating and detecting insider threats, and best practices for defending your organisation.

Alan Calder will be speaking alongside a number of industry experts, including Tarun Samtani, CISSP and group cyber security advisor of Findel Plc; Aaron Booth, digital service lead of Defence Cyber Protection Partnership; Dr Simon Rice, group manager (technology) of the Information Commissioner's Office; John Greenwood, cyber security specialist of Government Case Study and many more.

Clients and information security professionals attending the conference are encouraged to visit IT Governance at stand No. 1. The conference will take place at Manchester United Football Club, Old Trafford.
