PUNE, INDIA, January 18, 2017
/EINPresswire.com/ --

The analysts forecast the global wearable scanner market to grow at a CAGR of 3.9% during the period 2016-2020.

Wearable scanners are increasingly adopted in many industries, leading to higher revenues for the market. They are widely used in applications related to the healthcare, transportation and logistics, manufacturing, hospitality and entertainment, retail, and services industries because of their ability to capture data accurately and at a high speed. At present, 2D barcode scanners are increasingly being adopted, contributing significantly to the revenue of the market.

Wearable scanners are increasingly being used in the warehousing and storage industry for efficient inventory management and theft protection. The healthcare industry is also adopting barcode scanners in large numbers for monitoring patients and maintaining patient records. Demand for these scanners in the retail industry is significant, and the sector is expected to boost the market growth during the forecast period.
