Plastic Packaging Market in Europe

The analysts forecast the plastic packaging market in Europe to grow at a CAGR of 3.27 percent over the period 2014-2019.

Plastic packaging is used in the packaging of F&B, pharmaceuticals, chemicals, and consumer products. Plastic bottles and containers are non-corrosive, light, relatively cheap, and can be molded into a variety of shapes and dimensions, making them highly suitable for packaging. Its inert nature and ability to preserve products longer makes it a popular choice in the F&B industry. Plastic packaging is also preferred by customers in the F&B sector because of its esthetic appeal.

Covered in this Report

The plastic packaging market is segmented into two based on product type: Rigid plastic packaging and flexible plastic packaging. The rigid plastic packaging segment accounts for larger share of the market. The end-users of the plastic packaging are spread across multiple industry verticals. The major end-users are the food and beverages, personal care, pharmaceuticals, and healthcare sectors.
