NEW YORK, NEW YORK, US, January 31, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- New York City—January 31, 2017 – A benefit auction for Waterkeeper Alliance will be held at Sotheby’s in New York City on February 6, 2017 at 6:30 PM.

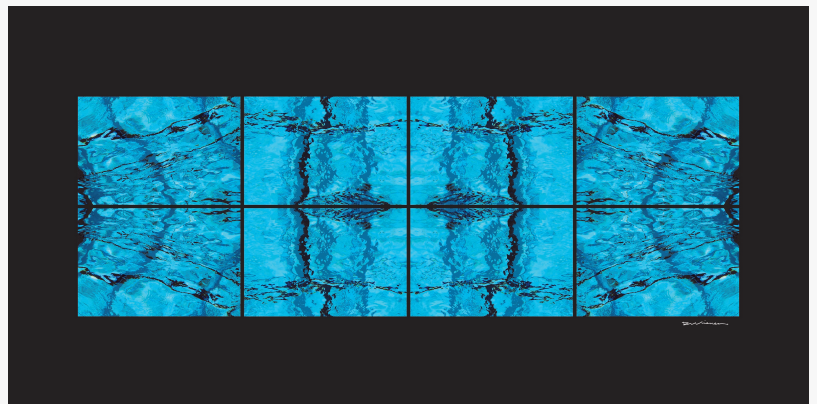

Waterkeeper Alliance is the largest and fastest-growing nonprofit that’s solely focused on clean water. All proceeds from this auction support the organization’s goal of drinkable, fishable, and swimmable water worldwide.

In partnership with Paddle8, the Art for Water auction featuring works by David Wiener, Jeff Koons, Ed Ruscha, Urs Fischer, Mark Grotjahn, Diane Arbus, Larry Bell, Jorge Pardo and Jonas Wood promises to be an exciting and worthwhile event.

A selected piece from David’s Photographic Constructs collection entitled, “Ice and Cube” will be auctioned to benefit the Waterkeeper Alliance and its mission. This piece finds abstract detail in the Olympic Sport Park ski jumping pool in Park City, Utah, creating an aesthetic and symmetrical view of details often overlooked by the human eye.

David Wiener stated, “Growing up on the water has given me a deep respect and passion for ocean life, its beauty, and our responsibility to preserve it. I’m honored to be associated with the Waterkeeper Alliance and admire their global efforts and important work.”
