

The Pizza Cone Trend Expands to New Territory

Sample packs and fast shipping allow pizza cones to debut on every menu

ANENEL, NEW JERSEY, USA, February 9, 2017

/EINPresswire.com/ -- With the introduction of overnight shipping direct from the manufacturer, real-dough pizza cones are finally reaching every eager eater nationwide. Pizza cones, a new twist on America's favorite food, have become wildly popular at pizzerias and concession stands. Few can resist sinking their teeth into the cheesy, molten goodness. As one fan put it, "It has all the flavor and all the crunch, it's just more intense this way. And I get to walk around when I eat."

There's good news for shop owners who never tried the cones: PCI Frozen Foods, the only manufacturer of the cones in the US, offers a convenient sample pack for just five bucks, and it even includes a rebate towards the first order.

Eateries located in an area that isn't serviced by a pizza cone distributor can finally jump on the cone-wagon and profit from this hot trend! PCI Frozen Foods, which operates in a 30,000 square foot, HACCP approved, nut and soy free New Jersey facility, now ships overnight via UPS to any location in the continental USA. "First we only worked with distributors. But we had so many people banging our doors down, we had to work out a system to ship the cones and keep them in great shape," explained Yoni Glatzer, CEO of PCI.

The par-baked pizza cones are packaged carefully with dry ice, and layered with plastic leaves to ensure easy separation. Cone varieties and sizes are listed on the company website along with tips and step-by-step instructions. There are also a number of baking trays, display stands and cone-to-go boxes that make it super-easy to prepare and sell this new item.

Inventive shop owners find that the crispy par-baked cones are fertile ground for creative new combos. Portobello, margherita, chili; fill with their faves and bake in minutes. Or bake first and then fill - with deli meat, salad, or creamy dessert. Consumers like tasting new products, and these real-dough pizza cones tempt any chef to innovate.
