

Agenda Released for Czech Air Force's Fast Jet Pilot Training CEE 2017

SMi Group, partnered with the Czech Air Force, have released the agenda for Fast Jet Pilot Training Conference returning to Prague on the 5th and 6th June 2017.

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, February 15, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The aim of this year's agenda is to encourage improved cooperation and interoperability among the air forces of regional allies, in the pursuit of enhancing air force power in the region. The meeting will provide a forum for leading solution providers to exhibit and discuss recent developments in fast jet training technology, as well as the activities, capabilities and requirements of participating powers.

Featured topics from the agenda include:

- Keynote Welcome Address From The Commander Of The Czech Air Force: The Ongoing Modernisation Efforts of the Czech Air Force and Future Developments

Major General Jaromir Sebesta, Commander, Czech Air Force

- Air Policing, a CAOC perspective...

Major General Thierry Dupont, Commander CAOC Udem, NATO

- The Hungarian Acquisition of Cutting Edge Fast Jets in order to take a Leading Role in Regional Air Policing

Brigadier General Csaba Ugrik, Commander HDF 59th SZD Air Base, Hungarian Air Force

- Recent Developments Leading the Italian Air Force to Forefront of Fast Jet Training

Colonel Luigi Casali, Commander 61st Stormo, Italian Air Force

- The Canadian Experience of Providing Fast Jet Training for International Allies

Colonel Denis O'Reilly, Commander 15 Wing, Royal Canadian Air Force

Lieutenant Colonel Mike Grover, Commander 419 Tactical Fighter Training Squadron, Canadian Air Force

- Creating the Next Generation Czech Air Force

Colonel Jaroslav Mika, Chief A7 Branch and Chief of Combat Training, Czech Air Force

Four Reasons to Attend

1. Hear expert briefings from Commanders and senior Officers delivering exclusive information on operational capabilities as well as current and future requirements

2. Discuss highly relevant aspects of fast jet pilot training including advanced simulation technology and the latest training aircrafts, such as the Alenia Aermacchi M-346 Master Jet Trainer and the Aero Vodochody L39 NG
3. Supported by the Czech Air Force, NATO, EDA as well as key regional and international Air Forces including Germany, Hungary, Canada and Italy
4. Dedicated solution zone where international industry leaders will showcase their latest pilot training technologies and programs
