PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA, UNITED STATES, February 15, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- BoardBookit Inc., a leading provider of board portal solutions, announced today that it has released BoardBookit for iPhone, the fifth component of the BoardBookit platform which allows boards of directors to securely and conveniently access their board information. The BoardBookit iPhone app is fully functional and provides all of the same features BoardBookit for iPad includes. The iPhone app allows BoardBookit to truly be the most portable board portal in the marketplace.

“BoardBookit recognized that the tablet market is shrinking as a result of better phone design and larger displays. Many consumers are now relying solely on their mobile phones to read news, shop, and even work. It made sense to provide our boards the ability to access their meeting information, board materials, and even approvals that require their signatures through their preferred device. BoardBookit for iPhone allows them this flexibility while still ensuring ironclad security,” says BoardBookit CEO, Marion Lewis. "

> Our new iPhone app extends mobility and collaboration by providing our customers the ability to access their board portal seamlessly through the iPhone app.”

The iPhone app builds upon BoardBookit’s vision of providing simple, quick access for board members to help increase their engagement. This increased engagement allows directors to serve their organizations by providing more valuable guidance. According to Ms. Lewis, “The BoardBookit iPhone app was a natural extension of our platform. Every development at BoardBookit begins by answering the question “Does this development further our vision” and without a doubt, the iPhone app will help directors across the globe stay better informed and connected for better leadership and governance.”
