

‘The Kamasutra Garden’ – A new feature film about Kamasutra is in production in Florida and Los Angeles

TAMPA, FLORIDA, USA, February 17, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dream Merchants Entertainment LLC announces production of the 140 minute feature film, “The Kamasutra Garden,” which takes viewers on a journey to a brothel in Nevada. The feature film is based on the acclaimed novel “The Kamasutra Garden” by Riju R. Sam. It is the story of the only brothel in the world that trains its girls the “Kamasutra” techniques of love making.

The mythical Kama Sutra is an ancient Hindu text on human sexual behavior and is famous for describing the art of making love. According to historians, the book “Kamasutra” that illustrates sexual positions was scripted by the Hindu philosopher, Vatsyayana Mallagna between 400 BCE and 200 CE. Hinduism teaches that “Kama” or sexual pleasure is one among the four goals of a human’s life. “Sutra” means a manual. Thus combined “Kamasutra” is the manual of love making.

“The Kamasutra Garden” Synopsis: A successful business man, “Steve Banks,” an exotic madam, “Sheila,” and a scandalous sex guru, “Swami Kamalesh” team up to start an elite brothel called “The Kamasutra Garden” in Nevada. At Steve’s request, an award winning documentary filmmaker “William” visits “The Kamasutra Garden” to prepare a documentary about the brothel and about the girls who work there.
