While Brazil is one of the most beloved countries in the world, people who want to express their passion for the country with style and authenticity did not have good options until Sambatrise.”

Andre Winkler (Founder at Sambatrise)

“While Brazil is one of the most cherished countries in the world”, says Andre, “I realized that people who want to express their passion for the country with style and authenticity did not have good options”. According to Andre, a search for Brazilian apparel or accessories would always take you to common places, such as soccer-themed shirts and other merchandise with the colors of the Brazilian flag. “We wanted to offer something unique, artsy, and that captured the soul of Brazilian culture and lifestyle”.

Sambatrise offers free shipping in the US and ships globally at affordable rates. While most of Sambatrise's sales are online, Andre says that they also develop offline partnerships, for example with events and other companies, when special orders can be arranged.
