FVC Mesh Fort Collins

FVC Mesh Fort Collins is a co-working space – but we provide much more than space to members. FVC Mesh is the place for the community to gather and stay connected”

“FVC Mesh Fort Collins is a co-working space – but we provide much more than space to members. FVC Mesh is the place for the community to gather and stay connected,” said Denichiro “Denny” Otsuga, CEO of FVC Mesh Fort Collins. “We bring a broad network of resources to all our members. We connect them to individuals and services that can help grow their businesses, including access to capital, educational programs, mentors, even talent-for-hire. Recently, two companies who have outgrown their suite space here decided to keep a membership - so they can stay connected to the FVC Mesh community.”

When Community Funded co-founder McCabe Callahan realized his team had outgrown FVC Mesh, he made the strategic decision to move to a larger office in Old Town. Community Funded received investment from FVC Americas (parent company of FVC Mesh), which launched the company into its next phase of growth. “The resources available to us through FVC Mesh Fort Collins and FVCA are invaluable. Not only does FVC Mesh provide us with large, class A conference rooms for our board meetings, it helps us stay connected to inspiring entrepreneurs, educational resources and mentors.”

Turbo Tenant is another business that has decided to maintain a membership at FVC Mesh after moving to a new location in Old Town - and for the same reasons. They want to continue building the relationships they have built to date, and grow with the help of the resources Mesh Fort Collins provides. These success stories help current members who work at 242 Linden not only envision a similar path for their businesses, but stay connected to them as members.

“We were thrilled to be invited as an inaugural member at FVC Mesh. We have a vision to grow physically and to remain a member for a long time to come,” said Eric Leftwich, CRO at jobZology®. “Based on the Mesh team, their portfolio of services, the connections and fun we have here, Mesh is quickly becoming the nucleus of an exciting innovation atmosphere here in Fort Collins.”

The concept of moving on to larger offices but retaining a seat speaks to what Mesh offers,” said Jessica Rawley, Campus Director for FVC Mesh Fort Collins. “Of course we want companies to grow and go – to grow beyond our suites but remain part of our community. Mesh’s ability to help companies continues when they outgrow the co-working space.”

Introductory Rates at FVC Mesh Fort Collins apply to seats, desks and suites. Members gain access to a network of resources that include comprehensive educational courses, regular community events and access to capital. The on-site amenities include a full kitchen, office equipment, lockers, conference rooms, private workspaces, showers and even a mindfulness room for individuals who just want to unplug. Membership for seats and desks are month to month, but those who make a multiple month commitment will receive a discounted rate. Suites vary in size and range in capacity from 6 to 14 individuals. Discount pricing on suites is available to members who secure 6 or 12 month commitments.
