Tractor Engines Market 2017

The analysts forecast the global tractor engines market to grow at a CAGR of 6.68% during the period 2017-2021.

The growth of the agricultural sector has a direct impact on the tractor engine market as tractors are required for cultivation purposes. The majority of the growth in the tractor engine market is likely to come from APAC, constituting about 71% of the global tractor engine sales in 2016. India and China are the main contributors to the global tractor engine market. The two biggest regions responsible for the overall market volume of tractor engines have fairly similar market characteristics.
