

Global Organ And Tissue Transplantation Market 2017 Share, Trend, Segmentation and Forecast to 2022

Trend towards growing incidence of organ and tissue failure diseases is helping the market to compete across the globe

PUNE, INDIA, February 21, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Summary

The Global Organ and Tissue Transplantation market is estimated to be $XX billion in 2015 and is expected to reach $XX billion by 2022 growing at a CAGR of XX% from 2015-2022. Trend towards growing incidence of organ and tissue failure diseases is helping the market to compete across the globe. The market growth is fostered by some of the factors such as immensely enhanced immunosuppression regimens, advance tissue matching and improved harvesting and procurement techniques. However, shortage of organ donors and artificial organs will reflect the market strength. Moreover, huge investments in R&D will pose an opportunity for the organ and tissue transplantation market over the forecast period. By tissue transplantation, bone graft transplantation is a fastest growing segment during the forecast period.
