

A New Social Media Alternative Guarantees a Track-free and Censor-free Experience

Connect23.com guarantees a profile-free, track-free, censor-free and corporate-agenda-free social media experience because of its unique business model.

SAN DIEGO, CALIF., USA, February 27, 2017

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Online activity tracking, consumer profiling (e.g. data mining) and censorship is an increasing issue at "free" Internet services. Established social media companies utilize business models requiring the profiling of staggering amounts of personal details about its users and offering access to that information. Moreover these "free" companies are banning and blocking more activity everyday, inserting corporate agendas between people whom simply want to converse. Clearly, the need for a family-friendly, privacy-first and truly free social media solution exists.

Imagine a brand new, independent, freethinking and consumer-first company solely focused on providing a forum for uncensored and track-free communication. Such a company requires a business model to guarantee consumer privacy and guarantee freedom of expression. Steve Twyman, founder of Connect23.com, explains, "At Connect23, our business model is an individual contract between each individual consumer and Connect23. That's it. There are no external interests between our consumers and free and safe expression."

Connect23.com offers a censor-free, profile-free, track-free, and advertising-free social media experience that is family-friendly, private and safe. It is easy to join and fun to use. Join Connect23 right now.

Real. Social Media. Freedom.
