

Towards a Brighter Future

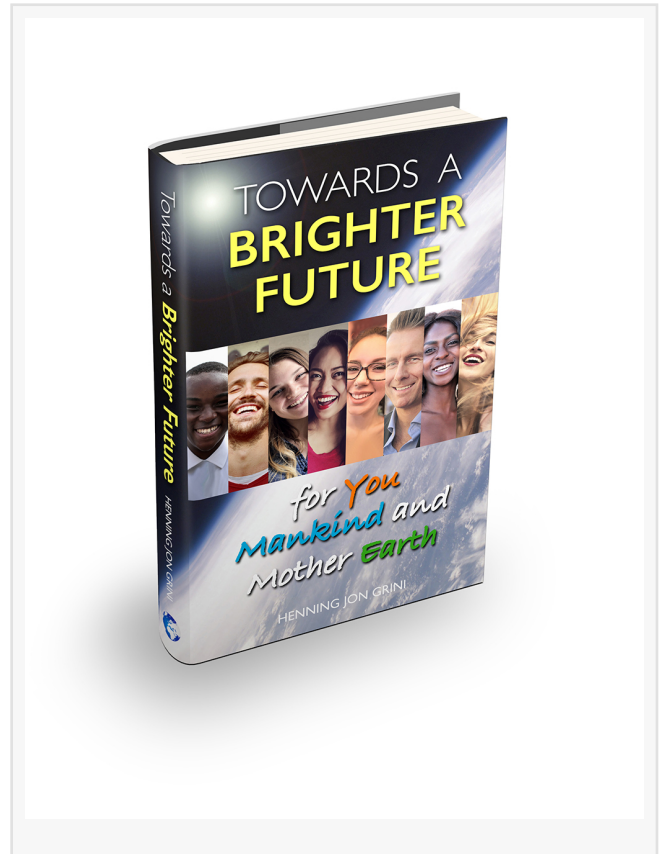

New book and a new organization. Despite turmoil and breakdown in society and new populist leaders that frighten us we are heading towards a brighter future.

ARENDAL, NORWAY, March 4, 2017

/EINPresswire.com/ -- People, Mankind and Mother Earth is plagued by countless problems and crises. Everything from overspending, exploitation, corruption, populist leaders and terrorism to economic differences, poverty, health problems, and loneliness. On top of that, we have huge environmental problems.

These problems can only be taken by their root if we are going to get lasting solutions, otherwise, we only treat the symptoms. By identifying the core causes to our manmade problems and crises, we can change these «vicious circles» we have entangled ourselves into and create «golden circles».

Even if we see breakdowns in the society, there are also plenty of breakthroughs, which don't receive the same amount of attention. This book seeks to reverse this, by offering several «new» thoughts, referrals to solutions, and ways to improve our lives and society.

Humanity are now having growing pains in form of our global crises.”

Henning Jon Grini

The book was first published in print in Norway in autumn 2016. For the first time, it's now published in English and available at Amazon. This edition is revised and updated early 2017.

Last year one of the readers in Norway was so excited about the book that she gave one to the Norwegian prime minister, but the hope is that ordinary people read this book, because real change does not come from above.

«I read it from cover to cover and felt that it did something to me. It lifts your mind and gives positivity and hope. Truly one of the best I've read in a long time!» - Irene H. Aune

The book is published in partnership with the new organization GaiaInnovations.

GaiaInnovations believe that people hunger after constructive solutions to the world's problems, after better ways of structuring society as well as something that gives our lives more meaning and happiness.

Almost every human problem is already solved somewhere in the world, but few knows about it. GaiaInnovations wants to counteract this with our two portals.
