Market Highlights:

Biopsy is a type of diagnostic test which is used to study a certain type of disease. In some cases, biopsies can be done by the removal of a small amount of tissue with a needle while others involve surgically removing an entire lump or nodule which seems suspicious. It helps to determine whether the patient have cancer or some other condition. They are commonly performed with the image guiding systems such as ultrasound, x-ray, computed tomography (CT), or magnetic resonance imaging (MRI).

The devices used for doing these tests include biopsy guns, biopsy guidance system, biopsy needles and forceps among others. Biopsy guns are those device that are designed for the automatic extraction of core tissue samples from an anatomic structure of the body while the biopsy needles are used to perform function like fine-needle aspiration, core needle biopsy, and vacuum-assisted biopsy among others. Biopsy guidance system is commonly used to provide a definitive diagnosis of breast cancer and biopsy forceps are used during minimally invasive GI and urologic endoscopy for collecting biopsies.
