

U.S. Senator Marco Rubio's Legislative Correspondent Contacts National Car Rental Fraud Victim David Howe

SubscriberWise founder and 'ding and dent' scam victim plans to take concerns, including prospective consumer protections, to Senator Rubio's Office

WASHINGTON, D.C., U.S.A., March 12, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ --SubscriberWise, the nation's largest issuing CRA for the communications industry and the leading provider of big data, advanced-analytics, and business-rules technology, confirmed today that company founder and child protector David Howe has been contacted by United States Senator Marco Rubio's Legislative Correspondent Celia Glassman.

"Following a highly productive meeting (http://www.businesswire.com/news/hom e/20170309006404/en/National-Car-Rental-Fraud-Victim-Discusses-Crime) in Tampa last week with Shauna Johnson,

Senator Rubio's staff assistant, I received a warm introduction and invitation from Ms. Celia Glassman, Legislative Correspondent for U.S. Senator Marco Rubio," confirmed David Howe, crime-victim consumer advocate and survivor. "Today I want Ms. Glassman to know how much I appreciate her courteous and prompt communication. In particular, I want Ms. Glassman to know how much I value the invitation and opportunity to share her time and conversation with me.

"I also want to again express my sincere gratitude to Senator Rubio for availing his staff and Congressional resources, following the so called 'human error' by National Car Rental at the SW FL Fort Myers International Airport last October (http://www.winknews.com/2017/02/22/fort-myers-mans- complaint-among-many-against-rental-car-firm/). And yes, I'm talking about the same 'ding and dent' scam that has plagued so many victims that consumer advocate and journalist Christopher Elliott has lost count: http://elliott.org/blog/enterprise-determines-damaged-rental/.

"The photographic evidence of criminal fraud -- including the whistleblower 'conjecture' from a National Car Rental manager exposing the possibility of an off-site garage where cars are criminally damaged and subsequently reported against the victim -- is under the jurisdiction and investigation of the Lee County Port Authority police detectives.

"One day after the police launched their crime investigation, the 6-week rental car nightmare and financial extortion attempt came to an immediate and abrupt end. A National regional manager called to apologize for the 'human error'," Howe confirmed. "The letter relieving me of the $502.80 liability was also received that same day.

"In February, I executed a contractual agreement with a legal consideration and review of racketeering, class-action, civil theft, negligence, and punitive damages with the Wilbur Smith Firm, Ft. Myers, Florida," added Howe.

"In addition to the comprehensive and detailed evidence

"In fact, I intend to include circumstances from my frequent rental encounters to advocate for consumers everywhere. The primary goals for Senator Rubio and his Congressional colleagues are predictable and uniform federal standards which are so desperately needed to end the predatory and even criminal behavior that has financially and emotionally harmed far too many for far too long," concluded Howe.
