

Bernard Bonner Reveals the Secret Formula to Boost Credit Scores that Creditors Don't Want You to Know

Credit Accelerator CEO Bernard Bonner - the Business Consultant to the Stars - is on a Mission to Empower People with the Knowledge to Achieve Financial Freedom

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, March 14, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Negative credit is an epidemic in the United States. According to the Fair Isaac Co. (FICO), only 1 in 9 Americans have a score of 800 or higher, and only 1% have a score of 850, which is a perfect score.

"The most important number for financial freedom is the credit score and most people have no idea how it is calculated or how to achieve and maintain a high FICO score," said Credit Accelerator CEO Bernard Bonner. "As a business analyst and consultant with more than 30 years of experience, I have first-hand knowledge of how even the wealthy struggles with saving money and are faced with debt that affects their ability to pay and their credit score suffers."

Oscar Winner Viola Davis, with daughter Genesis, was blown away about Credit Accelerator.

The three top factors for financial struggles are: location, lack of savings, and social media posts. If you live in Alaska, Hawaii, California, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Nevada, Florida, New Jersey or Rhode Island, you are most likely living paycheck to paycheck. In a study conducted by GoBankingRates, the cost of living (housing, transportation and food) in these 10 states will stretch your budget so thin, which leaves very little at the end of the month for savings.

Credit Accelerator is a revolutionary, state of the art, program that transforms your credit – from the privacy of your home.”

Nearly 70% of people living in America have less than $1,000 in their savings account. Living beyond your means is typically the culprit for zero savings or less than the recommended amount of money needed to cover three to six months' worth of expenses. Social media poses a "keeping up with the Jones," syndrome especially among millennials. Posts by friends and family taking trips, buying trendy fashion, attending high-profile events, and dining out, puts pressure on cash-strapped people to spend money and live beyond their means.

"More money going out than coming in and ignoring the bills that come later creates a vicious cycle of debt and the bad credit hole gets deeper," said Bonner who teamed up with Credit Accelerator to take the company nationally. "The good news is that turning negative credit into a positive outcome is possible and affordable with Credit Accelerator."

Bonner and his team have been successfully working with Hollywood influencers and business executives to help them achieve and secure their financial freedom. "While not everyone is on the brink of bankruptcy, influencers and tastemakers are savvy enough to know that high credit scores opens doors for better interest rates, larger loan approvals, lines of credit, and revolving credit," he said.

During award season, Bonner presented free access to Credit Accelerator for A-list celebrities to experience the innovative program, which included: Oscar Winner Viola Davis (Fences); Actor Russell Hornsby (Oscar nominated Fences); Actor Cary-Hiroyuki Tagawa (Oscar nominated Kubo and the Two Strings); Oscar Nominated Producer Julie Goldman and Director Roger Ross Williams (Oscar Nominated Life, Animated); Actor Menik Gooneratne (Oscar nominated Lion); Actor Aldis Hodge (Oscar nominated Hidden Figures); Actor Richard Kind (Oscar Winner Inside Out); Grammy Winner Diplo; Actor Anthony Anderson (Black-ish); Music Producer Randy Jackson (original judge for American Idol); Karina Smirnoff (Dancing with the Stars); Producer Howard Barish (Oscar nominated 13th); and more.

Empowering celebrities and business owners through business analysis and consulting combined with the negotiation power that comes with good credit earned Bonner their trust and the title, "Business Consultant to the Stars." Bonner's company Business Development International (BDI) empowers the world's small to medium-size business owners and their employees with the "know-how" using tools, training, procedures and motivation proven to provide growth and prosperity.

"Bernard Bonner is a no nonsense analyst but smart and always fair," said Actress and Business Owner Kirstie Alley. "In four months, we cut $90,000 from our monthly expenses and had the highest sales we've had in 6 months prior. My business is now expanding at a rapid rate."

L.A. Clippers Coach Doc Rivers and Credit Accelerator CEO Bernard Bonner agree after scoring a winning basketball game, achieving and maintaining a high credit score is top priority.

Grammy-Winner Thomas Wesley Pentz, better known as Diplo, is the most sought after music producer. A top credit score is just as important as 892 millions plays of his track "Lean On."

Bonner has taken his vast experiences and applied his BDI formula of results-driven success to Credit Accelerator. "The software is the tool to unlock the secret to financial freedom to all walks of life," said Bonner. "For decades, there have been credit repair and credit "fixing" companies, but they all charge ridiculous fees and produce shoddy results. Credit Accelerator is not only the most cost effective, but has been certified as the most effective way to boost your credit."

When it comes to improving credit, no one does it better than Credit Accelerator. You might wonder if it's credit repair, fixing or building. The answer is that it just works. Accelerating your credit is new. It's a two-prong approach of removing negatives while at the same time boosting the positives by using the letter of the law as defined by the Federal Credit Reporting Act. "Every step of the Credit Accelerated program is in full compliance with this law," said Bonner.

Credit Accelerator, the secret to attaining a financial peace of mind, is now available to the public. Creditors make millions of dollars from people who don't pay on time or in full every month. "Credit Accelerator is a game changer. It's revolutionary, state of the art, program to transform your credit, removing negative items while boosting the effect of positive accounts – quickly, easily, and from the privacy of your home," said Bonner. "Our goal is to show you how to position your financial future first."
