In terms of categories, multi-role aircraft segment is anticipated to account for 59.3% share”

analysis of the competitive landscape of the global market

countries across the globe are expected to invest heavily on replacing their fleets of aging aircraft. For instance, after the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, the US and other allied countries in Europe, Asia-Pacific, Latin America, and the Middle East were left with a worn-out and damaged base of aircraft and other military equipment. This has resulted in the need for large-scale upgrade and replacement programs. Defense spending in Europe, Africa, and Latin America will also be largely driven by the need to replace aging fleets of aircraft

Major players covered in the Military Fixed-Wing Aircraft Market report are The Boeing Company, SAAB, BAE Systems, Northrop Grumman Corporation, Airbus Defence and Space, Embraer, Lockheed Martin Corporation, Dassault Aviation, Russian Aircraft Corporation, Pilatus Aircraft Limited, Alenia Aermachhi, Eurofighter, Sukhoi, and Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL).

The primary forces driving large scale military modernization plans in this region are territorial disputes and the high threat of terrorism. A significant increase in Chinese defense spending has led other countries in the region to increase their defense budget in order to maintain a balance of military power in the region
