NBA LEGEND CHARLES OAKLEY TO PARTY AT HEADQUARTERS GENTLEMEN'S CLUB

Exclusive New York City Appearance

Thursday, March 23 at 10pm

New York, NY (March 20, 2017) — NBA legend Charles Oakley will be hosting a March Madness party at New York City's premier adult entertainment lounge, Headquarters Gentlemen's Club on Thursday, March 23 at 10pm.

In an item in the NY Daily News this week, "Oakley, a bruising 6-foot-9 all-star forward who spent 19 years in the NBA, was tossed from the audience during a nationally televised game at the Garden last month amid an ongoing feud with Knicks owner James Dolan. The media heir took over the once-proud organization in 1999.

We're told that Headquarters started pursuing Oakley to host a party there "literally the day after that kerfuffle happened."

Following that incident, Oak Tree, as he's known, was briefly "banned" from the arena, where he gave his blood, sweat and tears to the Knicks during their 1988-through-1998 heyday. The team had been a perennial playoff contender during Oakley's tenure. They lost in the NBA Finals during Dolan's inaugural year and have since become a league-wide laughingstock.

Oakley will be available for autographs, photographs and will be signing basketballs.

Headquarters is located at 552 West 38th Street (Between 10th and 11th Avenues), New York, NY 10018 and you may phone directly at 212-967-4646.
