LEHI, UTAH, USA, March 23, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Road trips are great ways to bond with your family and friends, and to visit places you've never been before. Popular road trip destinations like The Grand Canyon and Niagara Falls boast some stunning natural beauty and scenery, but they can also be crowded—especially during peak travel times.

If you're looking for a place less traveled this season but still capable of setting your Instagram or Facebook alight, you might want to check out these unexpected adventures. The following are just a few of the top 16 quirky and fascinating places featured by Reservation Counter's infographic Road-trip Gems.

Neon Museum, Las Vegas, Nevada: The Neon Museum is your best bet for something unique and off the beaten path of the Las Vegas Strip. This six-acre museum is filled with vintage neon signs restored to their former glory.

Kenai Fjords National Park, Kenai Peninsula, Alaska: Here, you can gaze at the stunning frozen beauty of 40 glaciers, and maybe even catch a glimpse of the many wildlife that roam the tundra—such as puffins, sea otters, bald eagles, and mammoth humpback whales.

The Wave, Kanab, Arizona: Check out the beautiful, red sandstone wave formation made popular after the launch of Microsoft's Windows 7.

Gillette Castle, East Haddam, Connecticut: Don't let the strange, rocky exterior fool you; inside you'll find a plethora of bizarre decor, from built-in couches to hidden surveillance mirrors.

Whether you're looking to experience the classic American tourist destinations, or something a little more exclusive, you'll find what you need in virtually each and every state. And, by venturing off the beaten path, you'll have a memorable adventure no matter where you go.
