Businesses throughout the Lehigh Valley and Bucks County have a partner in KDG's IT support team.

The tech management team at KDG has helped businesses such as Jaflo, Casilio Concrete, and Josh Early Candies stay ahead of their competition by upgrading the companies to the latest technology. They also work with them to prevent cyber attacks and other technical issues well before they arise.

We handle everything from Office 365 and Google Suite mail migrations to VPN installation.”

Jim Sullivan, Director of Operations

The IT services experts are dedicated to implementing technology solutions that will do more than just keep computers, mobile devices, and wireless networks running smoothly. They're also consultants and decision-making partners who not only want to keep local businesses growing, but also better connected in the process.

“We handle everything from Office 365 and Google Suite mail migrations to VPN installation, which keeps employees securely connected to a central office even when they're at a remote location,” explains KDG's Director of Operations Jim Sullivan.

When it comes to Office 365 or Google Suite migrations, KDG has been the go-to tech provider for businesses throughout the Lehigh Valley and Bucks County. The company is a Microsoft Partner and a member of the Google Reseller-Partner Program.

Businesses who partner with KDG's IT team have access to both onsite and remote support so that they are never kept waiting no matter the problem. KDG's innovative ticketing system alerts the IT team to an issue immediately. They can be onsite that day or give help over the phone through a remote login within minutes.

“For many small business who don’t have their own IT service, we’re their internal help desk,” says Sullivan. “We perform audits of their systems, repair their networks, and configure their devices. We do anything an internal IT team would do for them and more.”
