

MOVE Bumpers Announces New Fabricator Directory During National Welding Month

MOVE Bumpers announces directory of fabricators to assist customers interested in purchasing a weld-it-yourself MOVE bumper kit during National Welding Month.

LEWISTOWN, MONTANA, UNITED STATES, April 11, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Just in time for National Welding Month, MOVE Bumpers announces a new directory of fabricators to assist customers interested in purchasing a weld-it-yourself MOVE bumper kit - without necessarily knowing how to weld. The welder directory spans across the nation, helping individual welders and auto body shops get new customers, while also helping MOVE customers find local fabricators to build their DIY bumpers. MOVE is thrilled to launch the directory, as welders around the nation will now have the opportunity to garner more business and put their welding skills to use.

Not only will MOVE fabricators help build bumper kits, but most can provide additional services, making the directory a one-stop place to find a fabricator. Fabricators' information - including background, skills, certifications, and pricing - is available on each page so customers can make informed purchase decisions.

Photos of previous work are showcased as well, making fabricator profiles lucrative to their personal businesses. Additionally, to ensure even more confidence in the fabricators' services, customers can leave reviews on each fabricator page.

As of now, there is at least one MOVE fabricator in 47 states across the country, along with some in Canada. As word spreads, MOVE will be able to provide complete coverage for customers in search of welding services.

Potential fabricators are encouraged to visit MOVEBumpers.com to submit an application and become part of the quickly growing directory. Being listed will help increase welders' exposure because MOVE's website gets thousands of unique hits every month. Heavy web traffic, saddled with the prestige that comes with being listed in MOVE's fabricator directory, makes a presence particularly useful for individual welders and auto body shops alike.

MOVE's line of DIY bumpers gives truck owners the ability to customize, support, and protect their vehicles. By providing customers with a database of fabricators to weld their bumper kits, MOVE has made the building process easier for buyers and more profitable for auto body shops and individual welders.

Customers can explore the directory themselves by going to www.MOVEBumpers.com/find-fabricator.
