LA Thrash Metal Group Heavy Justice Drops New CD “And So We Fall...” May 12, 2017

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, April 11, 2017

/EINPresswire.com/ -- For years, Heavy Justice has been building a reputation as one of Los Angeles’ most electrifying and artistic thrash metal bands. After their breakout first album “Apocalyze” stunned the music world with its hypnotic riffs and memorable lyrics, the band is finally ready to release their follow-up “And So We Fall...” in May of 2017. Like its predecessor, “And So We Fall...” is a metal tour-de-force that will satisfy die-hard metal fans as well as appeal to lovers of pulse-pounding, cerebral music.

Led by singer and bassist Neil Moutrey, Heavy Justice is transitioning from a local music draw to harnessing authentic nation-wide attention. With his co-songwriter and guitarist Greg Mullen, along with guitarist Irvin Garay and drummer Michelle Pickering, Neil has found a sound that resonates with fans across the metal spectrum. This powerful, yet creatively diverse artistry was on full display in “Apocalyze” but reaches new heights in “And So We Fall...” You can experience this incredible music personally by viewing the music videos for the first two singles “Bone to Dust” and “Macabre Melody” (to be released May 5th).

If you are a fan of heavy metal music, then you will want to mark May 12, 2017 on your calendar to purchase “And So We Fall...” by Heavy Justice. If you want to learn more about Heavy Justice or reach out to the band, you can find them on their website heavyjustice.com and social media sites such as Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram, or email Neil directly at neilio@heavyjustice.com.
