The driving mirror helps the driver to see what is nearby the vehicle. It also helps the driver to calculate the distance between the car and the trailing vehicles. The other types of vehicle mirrors are wing or door mirrors, usually known as side-view mirrors. Rear-view mirrors give the view of objects at a nearby range of the vehicle by reflecting images that fall on the interior driving mirror. Some vehicles use cameras or sensors for alerts to differentiate between various objects. Front-view mirrors also reflect images of vehicles nearby.

The analysts forecast the global automotive safety tow mirror market to grow at a CAGR of 11.87% during the period 2017-2021.
