

Leeco Solutions on Board With Imperial Systems, Inc.

Leeco Solutions will represent Imperial Systems Inc. in Kentucky and surrounding areas.

JACKSON CENTER, PENNSYLVANIA, UNITED STATES, April 19, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- With extensive experience in both HVAC and dust collection industries, Lee Adams has handled every aspect of air quality control. Lee began his career as a service technician before moving on to work as a sales engineer, so he has hands-on experience to back up his product knowledge.

"We're really pleased with the skill set Lee brings with him," says Jeremiah Wann, President and CEO of Imperial Systems. "Lee has a lot of experience with vertical dust collection systems, so he knows this product well."

We're really proud that Lee has decided to work with us"
Jeremiah Wann

Lee comes from a company representing a competing manufacturer of vertical cartridge collectors. "The CMAXX has some major improvements over the competitor's design," he says.

Lee's strong background in NFPA and OSHA compliance will be a valuable resource. His hands-on experience with vacuum systems, fans, ducting, and dust collectors allows him to understand all aspects of an air quality control system.

Along with his experience with dust collection systems, Lee brings an OSHA-10 and OSHA-30 certification as well as an extensive knowledge of NFPA requirements. For companies with combustible dust, Lee's background in this area is a valuable resource.

"We're really proud that Lee has decided to work with us," says Jeremiah Wann. "Our reps have our full support, and they bring us some really important resources that make us stronger as a company." Lee will represent Kentucky and surrounding parts of Indiana and Ohio.
