Gay Pages is division of PMI Creative. PMI Creative is a leading advertising, digital media and marketing company providing a wide range of services. Gay Pages started November 2005, when the owners united to establish a directory of businesses that bridged the gap between the mainstream and LGBT community. This earliest edition of “Gay Pages” was a printed directory.

This new domain will allow our company to grow and expand the services we offer. It also allows us to continue our strong growth in addressing the need for support of equal rights for all.

Shelbi Parker

By the end of 2007, the resource had become an online directory. The decision to transition to a completely virtual database of LGBT-friendly businesses came years ahead of the competition, accounting for a comprehensive collection of inclusive businesses that recognize and respect the diversity within the community.

With millions of visitors each year, Gay Pages (.com) continue to provide a useful resource to those who want to support and find businesses that believe in, and are willing to show they support equality and human rights.

Shelbi Parker, President of PMI Creative commented on the change in the domain. “This new domain will allow our company to grow and expand the services we offer our current clients. It also allows us to continue our strong growth in addressing the need for support of equal rights in the business community.”

She continued, “It also will allow us to expand our Search Engine Optimization efforts on behalf of our clients. We continue to focus on ways to expand the knowledge of our online business and service directory. We continue to be encouraged by our user feedback, our site users want to support those that stand for equal rights for all. They do that by spending dollars at the advertising business clients that list with us.”
