PUNE, INDIA, April 25, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/
-- WiseGuyReports.Com Publish a New Market Research Report On – “IPTV in South Korea Market 2017 Landscape, Epicast, Trends, Economic Analysis & Prospectus Forecast Till 2020”.

The rising fiber internet subscriptions and the increased demand for video-on-demand \(VoD\) are expected to drive the market growth over the next four years. The popularity of on-demand content, especially for TV genres such as live sports, reality shows, sitcoms, drama, and programs for children, has been on the rise. This has led to vendors shifting from linear broadcast to on-demand services.

The growth of interactive services is expected to aid the market growth during the forecast period. An IP-based platform provides interactive, personalized TV viewing experience. It offers an interactive program guide that enables subscribers to search for content and allows viewers to surf for content without closing the program that is currently being viewed. This platform also enables viewers to search a player’s statistics while watching a game and even see the content through a different perspective by controlling the camera angle.
