The Center is especially focused on assisting an electrician, plumber or construction worker in Nevada with mesothelioma because they already a great deal about how these types of workers were probably exposed to asbestos. Casino construction or renovation in Nevada frequently caused construction workers or skilled trades workers to be constantly exposed to asbestos prior to 1980.

Frequently repair or renovation work involved removing insulation or working in unventilated places where asbestos was everywhere. In many instances these types of workers would re-exposure their family with asbestos because the worker's clothing was covered with asbestos.
