

EStem Students Raising Cash Fast For Charity

Raising $700 of their $1,000 Goal Using Crowdfunding in days

COLUMBUS, OHIO, UNITED STATES , May 10, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Reynoldsburg EStem high school students are fast raising funds to re-adapt toys for children with disabilities. They have raised $700 of their $1,000 goal, according to A KickIn Crowd, LLC, the crowdfunding portal they are using.

A KickIn Crowd

<http://www.ackickincrowd.com> is used in the classrooms at Reynoldsburg to teach student interns technology and entrepreneurship. Seen On Screen, TV, (OTCMKTS: SONT) has discussed helping these projects in the future regarding investing and stocks.

Last year students on the Reynoldsburg Robotics Team used A KickIn Crowd to raise $1,800 in the first 24 hours of a fundraiser to offset trip expenses for a contest.

said Renee Koebel Coley, the team administrator. “When we heard about this, we knew it would be a perfect project for our team.””

“I’m really proud of these students and their dedication to raising funds for charity,” Tony Reynolds, founder of A KickIn Crowd said.

According to a recent article in the Eastside Messenger, “One of our coaches, Mr. Griffith, had previous experience modifying toys with a program at The Ohio State University called Toy Adaptation Program, which is a program dedicated to adapting toys for children with disabilities,” said Renee Koebel Coley, the team administrator. “When we heard about this, we knew it would be a perfect project for our team.”

It’s not too late to donate, if you still want to help them the link is here:
