

Mobile App Builder for Spanish Speakers Available Using Apps I Like (AppsILike.net)

Spanish speakers can create and monetize mobile apps using a mobile app builder that provides basic app building instructions in Spanish, as well as in English.

COLUMBIA, MARYLAND, UNITED STATES, May 11, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Savvier Health, LLC's powerful mobile app builder, Apps I Like (Appsilike.net), empowers users to create apps in Spanish, as well as in English and in German. After logging into the dashboard, users simply select the language they prefer for the app building platform. Basic information is available in all three languages and very technical questions can be addressed using a simple online translation program, such as Google Translate.

Mobile apps are a multi-billion dollar business for a reason. The ability to expand the reach of a business and bring in more customers is only the tip of the iceberg. Apps I Like has hundreds of templates that can be customized quickly, some in less than an hour and Apps I Like has something for virtually everyone. Mothers can create e-books featuring photos of their children as the heroes. Photographers can create wedding or anniversary apps for their clients. Musicians can create apps featuring videos of their music. An individual with no gaming experience whatsoever could even create the next international game app sensation, with no coding needed. Apps I Like's coding expert can develop a single page of unique code or even create and upload an entire game app based on the customer's vision as an add-on service.

Basic template categories include business, design & portfolio, entertainment, events & causes, sports, E-commerce, digital publishing, locations & places, music & band, restaurant & bar, game
