

Washington Methanol Policy Forum to be Held June 13

WASHINGTON, DC, USA, May 11, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Methanol Institute (MI), along with partners the Institute for the Analysis of Global Security (IAGS), and the U.S. Energy Security Council (USESC), will host the 2017 Washington Methanol Policy Forum on June 13th at the National Press Club in Washington, DC.

Previously held in 2012 and 2014, the Washington Methanol Policy Forum brings together industry leaders, energy policy experts, congressional and executive branch officials, academics and the media to share information about methanol's global penetration of the transportation fuel market and its implications for the U.S. economy. Experts from around the world will provide the most up-to-date information on methanol fuel blending around the globe. Join us for panels discussing: Public Policy Drivers; Domestic Methanol Industry Resurgence; Global Methanol Fuel Blending Initiatives; Methanol as a Marine Fuel.

Plus, there will be a special luncheon discussion with prominent members of the USESC. Confirmed USESC attendees include: Robert "Bud" McFarlane, former U.S. National Security Advisor; R. James Woolsey, former Director of Central Intelligence; John Hofmeister, former President, Shell Oil Company; C. Boyden Gray, former White House Counsel and Ambassador to the United Nations; J. Bennett Johnston, former U.S. Senator from Louisiana.

Confirmed Speakers include: David Cassidy, Managing Director Proman AG; Wei Anli Deputy Secretary General, China Internal Combustion Engine Industry Association/Ministry of Industry and Information Technology; Uday Turaga, CEO, ADI Analytics; Sam Golan, CEO, Primus Green Energy; Gil Dankner, Chairman, Dor Chemicals; Joe Cannon, CEO, Fuel Freedom Foundation; Paul Daoust Vice President North America, Methanex; Peter Gross of the U.S. Energy Information Administration and more!

A special thank you to event sponsors Consolidated Energy Limited (CEL), Southern Chemical Corporation (SCC), OCI N.V., Methanex, Mitsui & Co., and SABIC.
