PRESS RELEASE May 23, 2017—

Why LinkedIn and Microsoft should take notice of this increasingly growing yet small innovative company called Connectwerks.Com. Connectwerks.Com has cornered the social media marketplace for K-12, higher education, B2B, and P2P (Person to Person) virtual mentoring. This innovative technology software company that has virtual employees in at least 70 countries is probably the world's best innovative kept secret. A tech cloud site app to watch in 2017.

The Connectwerks.Com private cloud site application prepare people for success in a global competitive world. People should be engaged in learning or work that is relevant to their passion. We bring people of all varying backgrounds together to share and discuss compelling life events, emerging technologies, and soft-skill building that can be universally beneficial to anyone. Connectwerks.Com is a true virtual company with all employees virtual, with no traditional building or tenant requirement.

In all the many ways, we communicate together today is consolidated on a single private cloud platform called VMMP (Virtual Mentoring Management Platform). My own personal end-user “mock magic quadrant” diagram from my perspective would look like this today.

To become a part of the Connectwerks.Com community or to learn more you can visit them at www.Connectwerks.Com. I can be reached at (571) 409-9600 for suggestions on covering new technology apps.
