Description

According to Statistics MRC, the Global Plastic Films and Sheets Packaging Market is valued at $92.4 billion in 2015 and is expected to reach $139.2 billion by 2022 growing at a CAGR of 6% from 2015 to 2022. Rising demand for bi-axially oriented films and increased demand for bio plastic materials are the key drivers of the market. The elements restricting the growth of this market are regulations limiting the usage of non-biodegradable plastics and matured western European markets. The opportunities lie in positive outlook for specialty films and growing usage of plastic films & sheets in agriculture. The increasing disposable income of the consumers together with the growing demand for packaged food is driving the market growth.

The markets in the developed countries of Europe and North America have already reached a mature stage, and are hence witnessing a slow growth rate. However, rising demand for specialty films in the construction market and pharmaceutical applications in non-packaging sector would foster the demand over the next decade. Asia Pacific powered by China and India is anticipated to be an engine for growth in the global market. Besides this region, other emerging economies in the ROW such as Brazil, Poland, Mexico, and Turkey, and Mexico are also generating solid demand. Healthcare packaging and Food packaging are the major applications which are anticipated to drive the market for extreme growth.
