

Panumart Tattoo brings Chiang Mai tattoos with a new style

New tattoo shop opens in Chiang Mai, Thailand

CHIANG MAI, CHIANG MAI, THAILAND, May 25, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Panumart Tattoo is home of one of Thailand's upcoming new artists, Panumart Ahm. She hopes to add style to the skin of locals and tourists alike who come for a tattoo in Chiang Mai.

Having grown up in various parts of central Thailand, Ahm has called Chiang Mai her home for the last decade. From an early age she had interests in the arts, so upon graduating high school she proceeded to study art and design for two years in university. And in late 2016 she formally entered training to become a professional tattoo artist. These two steps have been a huge advantage to her, as many tattoo artists do not have formal training in the arts or as a professional tattooer.

She has since competed in the Chiang Mai tattoo convention, gained recognition in the local ink community and focused on honing her craft. That journey sometimes takes her to other parts of Thailand and even out of the country to perform her work. She has since traveled to Pai, Nong Khai, Mae Sot, Pattaya, Khon Kaen, Udon Thani, Phuket, Krabi and even Malaysia to work.

As with any artist, Ahm has a specialty that is near to her heart: realistic tattoos. She continuously seeks to improve herself in this field, taking inspiration from many places and people such as Arlo Tattoos. More than only thinking about her art, though, she is driven to please those who come to her for a tattoo. She has performed old school style tats, sak yant (which some people refer to as Buddhist tattoos or muay thai style), font quotes, minimal and more.

Ladies can feel comfortable getting a tattoo from a fellow woman.
