DALLAS, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, June 6, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Orbis Research delivers key insights on the global Polymerization Catalysts market in a new report titled "Global Polymerization Catalysts Market-Growth, Trends and Forecasts (2017-2022)" In this report, Orbis Research sheds light on the various factors and trends impacting market growth over the forecast period (2017 – 2022).

The Global Polymerization Catalysts Market is Expected to Value USD 4,008.99 Million In 2016, And Is Likely To Reach USD 5,242.08 Million By 2021, growing at an estimated CAGR of 5.51%, during the forecast period, 2016-2021.

Polymerization catalysts are catalysts that are employed to convert a monomer into long chain molecules known as polymers. Polymers are defined as long chain molecules consisting of multiple repeating units or monomers. Polyolefin catalysts, which are used to manufacture polyethylene, polypropylene, etc. dominate the polymerization catalysts market. This is due to growing usage of PE (HDPE, LDPE, and LLDPE), PP, PVC, etc. in many sectors such as automotive, construction, and many others. Ziegler Natta catalysts are the most renowned catalysts that utilized in the manufacturing of polymers. Ziegler Natta catalysts was the largest catalyst segment of the global polymerization catalysts market. In terms of region, the Asia-Pacific region dominated the global market for polymerization catalysts.
