At the heart of eBay's internship program is the aim to hire brilliant, hardworking, and diverse students. Throughout their 12-week internships, students work on meaningful and important projects that directly impact eBay's business. In Talent Acquisition at eBay, students will help find, engage, and employ extraordinary people who do valuable work that has a tangible impact on the lives of individuals all over the world.

“We're very proud of the four extraordinary students who have been selected by eBay for the internship program,” said SJCC President Dr. Byron Clift D. Breland. “It's a wonderful reflection of the collaboration between eBay and SJCC to provide significant opportunities to our students.

“These internships will provide students studying Human Resources the chance to get hands-on experience in eBay's HR department and learn transferable skills that will serve them throughout their careers. eBay is focused on creating opportunity for all, and our partnership with SJCC is a testament to this commitment within our local community,” said Hooper-Campbell.
