The leading research and review firm, ITFirms.co released updated ranking lists of top development companies delivering innovative, cost-effective solutions.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, June 12, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The ITFirm.co rankings, well known for its credibility and accuracy while handpicking and ranking the companies in ascending order based on the various judging parameters. Today, the team at ITFirms.co released the 2017 new and updated ranking lists for the various categories of offshore development services.

Some companies have taken the center stage in all categories while there are few new names that have nailed in in the top places. There have been some movements up and down as it were in the previous lists. Two new rankings that ITfirms.co have recently released are World's leading wearable app development companies and Top Mobile App Development Companies United Kingdom\(UK\).

As per ITFirms.co rankings, the world's most competitive development companies continue to jostle for the top positions as they all aim to become the first offshore development choice of most startups, enterprises, businesses and brands. Some of the names like Konstant Infosolution, Appster, Intellectoft, Fuzz have been repeatedly seen in the top spots in more than one category. They've found to be given notable performance in all these years and gained client's trust and recognition.

The top five companies that are client's first choice as a mobile app developer in the UK are:

1. Waracle
2. Kosntant Infosolutions
3. Ready4S
4. Intellectsoft
5. Fueled

The top five companies that are ruling the wearable app development are:

1. Appster
2. Softeq
3. Konstant Infosolutions
4. Fuzz
5. Sourcebits

These results are unquestionable as ITFirms.co dives deep to scrutinize the development companies like these and test them on the various levels of quality of end product as and how it reaches to the client. The judging parameters include expertise, experience, in-house development, infrastructure (software and hardware), client feedback, testimonials, number of certified developers, project management strategy, communication process, client satisfaction and quality testing before the app is deployed and launched on the app store. Post deployment support and maintenance also plays a major role.

“Hiring the best mobile app development partner is a challenge for many businesses and individuals as it involves an excessive level of tech understanding, time and efforts,” said a scrutiny expert at ITFirms.co. He further added, “Our main aim is to let a business idea propel through the best hands in technology, with a solution that will serve a real-time consumer need and generate revenue and profits for the business.”
