

Caps Accounting and Bookkeeping Firm Announces Expansion

Caps Accounting, a QuickBooks 2017 Pro-adviser, launches new wholesale billing system.

NEW LENOX, IL, USA, June 13, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- CapsAccounting, Inc. (Caps) a boutique accounting and bookkeeping firm announced the expansion of their Certified ProAdvisor services to now include “Wholesale Billing” for the QuickBooks Online Accountant Accountant and bookkeeping service offered by Intuit, Inc.

QuickBooks 2017 is an online accounting and payroll software system that is geared toward small to medium-sized businesses (SMB). QuickBooks customer service has been ranked as #1 by QuickBooks self-employed users. Caps is rated highly for providing excellent service and QuickBooks help, promptly and expertly.

"This new billing system will allow us to better serve our clients, and the CPAs will love it, too!"

Amanda E. Hritz, CEO

This cloud-based accounting software allows clients to receive and accept business payments, while completely manage accounting functions including paying bills and handle complex payroll functions.

Caps also supports businesses that own their QuickBooks software whether it be standalone or enterprise versions.

Amanda E. Hritz founder of the firm announced that clients were being transitioned over from Intuit, but the database still resides within the sphere of Intuit’s QuickBooks online (QBO) system. This new service offers some advantages over the standard QBO client plan.

“Clients pay us monthly for the QBO service and our services in one bill. Our clients like paying the bookkeeper, accounting, and cloud services to just one supplier. Moreover, our clients trust us with their most secure accounting data and having one less point of contact regarding that data appeals to them greatly,” said Hritz.

Caps' client base has grown tremendously in the last few years. In January, this year the firm added another accounting professional to the roster. We now handle clients in seven states and have a solid local base in which we can grow. Most of Caps' clients are in Illinois, in the Chicagoland areas.

Hritz and her firm follow best practices and procedures as identified and directed by membership and certification from the National Association of Certified Public Bookkeepers (NACPB)

Hritz, a veteran of the banking industry, has over 20 years' experience working with and owning small-to-medium sized businesses. She knows the fears that business owner and operators have about the organization and accuracy of their books. She allays those fears by providing a grounded foundation of trust, timeliness, dependability and a solid knowledge of the intricacies of the QBO system.

Caps is not a Certified Public Accounting firm. We do not try to interfere with an existing CPA relationship, in fact, we enhance the relationship. The CPA team works with Caps telling them what he or she needs and how to structure reporting for things like the Chart of Accounts. The CPA after working with Caps usually has a more precise picture of their client's internal bookkeeping allowing him or her the confidence to make better budgeting and tax advice.

CapsAccounting, located in New Lenox, IL provides expert advice covering bookkeeping and accounting matters to owners and operators of Small-Medium sized businesses. Caps is so confident that they can help most businesses they offer a (free) no charge 45-minute consultation.
