PUNE, MAHARASHTRA, INDIA, June 22, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Market Scenario:

Keratoacanthoma (KA) is a condition in which a tiny dome or a crater is formed on the skin which is a result of a low grade, slow growing cancer tumor on the skin. It is benign in nature despite its appearance and other similarities with Squamous Cell Carcinoma (SCC). KA initially originates in the hair follicles of the skin and very rarely spreads to the other cells. The prevalence of this condition is mostly in the people aged 60 or more but it can even occur in people who are exposed to sun, coming in contact with chemical carcinogens, or through infection. The growing ageing population and people not avoiding direct sun exposure for prolonged hours has driven the growth of the market.

The Global Keratoacanthoma Market has been evaluated as a growing market and it is expected that the market will touch high growth figures. The rise in the ageing population globally and increasing demand surgeries is boosting the revenues per year.
