

SysTools Inc., Leader in Email Forensics Announces the Availability of their Team Platform for MailXaminer Product

SysTools Software, Inc. today announced the availability of Team version 1.0 of their well-recognized email forensic software MailXaminer.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, USA, June 28, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MailXaminer enables investigators to sift and organize e-mail data in preparation for investigations that require keyword searching, tagging, bookmarking pertinent information, and link analysis between users. MailXaminer caters to various segments involved in the examination of electronically stored information including segments like Federal and State government, investigators, attorneys and law enforcement agencies.

MailXaminer Team version 1.0 allows collaboration of multiple users working on a single case. Users can work independently on the same case, can perform same searches or can distribute their search parameters depending on the complexity of the case. MailXaminer Team version 1.0 will synchronize progress across the team.

“We understand the need for team collaboration on complex investigations that require multiple users to investigate different dimensions of each case. MailXaminer Team version 1.0 addresses this need and aims to benefit its users with its broad application”, said Natasha Lockhart, Vice President - Business Development.
