LogicalDOC with Cloud storage

LogicalDOC is about to release the new version for the support for the cloud storages Amazon S3 and Microsoft Azure.

CARPI, ITALY, July 25, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Businesses and customers use cloud storage to store their most important digital assets safely and securely. Only the most reliable and best cloud storage services allow one a range of incredible capabilities, specializing in a specific area. LogicalDOC has everything one is looking for in Cloud storage services, such as unlimited support, affordability, and high portability. Customers and companies seek top product quality with least expenses along with professional support. The global software company was founded in 2006 and caters to the needs of a wide broad range of sectors and vertical markets.

LogicalDOC

Address:
14-25 Plaza Road | Suite N-3-5
Fair Lawn, NJ 07410
USA

Phone:
+1 (800) 654 2827

Email:
sales@logicaldoc.com

Website:
www.logicaldoc.com

> With this new release we finally aproach the hybrid scenario in which your document management system is installed locally but the documents repository is maintained in the Cloud."
>
> Marco Meschieri

The best cloud storage services out there are evaluated for their feature sets, stability, ease of use, and price. LogicalDOC is a trusted name among global enterprises and enjoys a fast expanding network of systems integrators and authorized partners. The development model of the company is based on modern software engineering principles while committing to quality standards.

Here is what makes the cloud storage and support services superior to others:

• Easily adaptable to different business processes
• Automatic import procedures
• Simplicity in data entry and document retrieval
• Helps increase business' productivity immediately
• Most important innovation

LogicalDOC is about to release the new version their document management system to support for the cloud storages Amazon S3 and Microsoft Azure, the public object storages that are popular among individuals and enterprises to store and retrieve their data. Until now one could only create Storers in local folders or network shared folders (SMB protocol). Now with the new release and features, one can configure Storers that will use Amazon S3 and Microsoft Azure.

New features:
• Install and configure many format converters
• Resizable Preview Panel with better rendering for a wider set of documents
• Handle multiple storage locations

• Connect to CMS WordPress with LogicalDOC
• Templates for composing emails and schedule custom reports
• Colored markers on Folders and users notified of new files
• Storers for remote repositories
• Checkout/Checkin from Workflow dashboard

Improvements can be seen with the new features in the visualization and search of workflow histories and tagging workflows for better identification. Resizable Preview Panel allows one to preview navigator and create download tickets with the web service. Default workspace opens automatically. The hybrid system can be set up, and it allows one to execute their own business logic and program automation with a simple scripting language. Now one can connect the popular CMS WordPress with LogicalDOC.

Teaming with LogicalDOC has several advantages as the company's offices are located all over the globe, and there are multi-lingual assistants that will help you solve all the document management needs. The widespread network of partners ensures a widespread local presence and guarantees your effects and investments.

LogicalDOC interface is user-friendly and requires no need for training. The hybrid system can automatically import all business files and make them available anywhere, in a secure and safe way. With a low start-up cost, you get unlimited support and are ensured of a professional system configuration. Enjoy innovative solutions by LogicalDOC on a wide range of hardware and software.
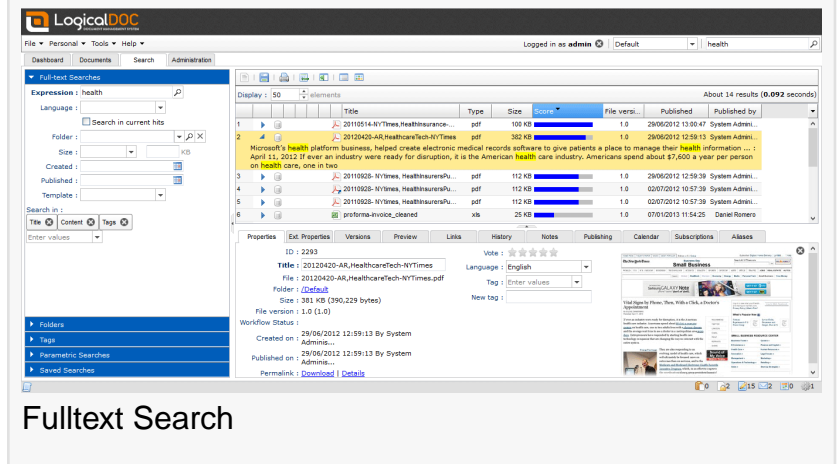

About LogicalDOC
Browse LogicalDOC, which is the best choice for document management software. Enjoy a non-invasive integration with your system based on international standards and use of advanced technology.

Stefano Rigoni
LogicalDOC
+39 059 597 0906
email us here

LogicalDOC

Fulltext Search

This press release can be viewed online at: http://www.einpresswire.com