

Events Industry Council CEO joins Penn State hospitality industry advisory board

UNIVERSITY PARK, PA, USA, July 24, 2017 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Karen Kotowski, CEO of the Events Industry Council (EIC) and Penn State alumna, has joined the Penn State School of Hospitality Management (SHM) Industry Advisory Board (http://hhd.psu.edu/shm/industry-advisory-board).

The EIC is a federation of 32 organizations in the meetings, exhibition, events and travel industry. Kotowski is responsible for the day to day management and strategy of the EIC, including delivering several signature programs, including the Certified Meeting Professional Designation, Accepted Practices Exchange, and the CIC Hall of Leaders.

"I am truly honored to have been selected to serve Penn State and the School of Hospitality Management in this way," Kotowski said. "Since graduating from the College of Liberal Arts at Penn State, I've made my career in event planning and management, and now lead an organization with a mission to champion and professionalize the events industry. I look forward to bringing that voice to the board and to further the field of study of event management within the school for the benefit of students pursuing this career choice. I am passionate about Penn State and the events industry, and seek to serve both equally well in this role."

The board invites industry experts to strategically advise SHM on industry trends and guide students
