Market Research Future

The Foley Catheter market is mainly driven by factors like growing geriatric population, higher incidence of urinary abnormalities, higher affordability, and increase in the growing old population, favorable reimbursement policies and increase in demand for advanced urinary catheters. Urinary Catheter's revenue contribution to the global market is expected to increase by end of 2027. The increase of chronic diseases and ageing population are factors will positively affect the growth of the Foley Catheters market.

The global foley market is mainly dominated by 2 way catheters. It was due to their low price, their reusability nature and popularity of these catheters in hospitals and clinics. 4 way foley catheters have more opportunities in the market because of their minimum risk of CAUTI in male patients with an enlarged prostate.
